Question 4 of 5

 Bookmark

Four people share their feelings about reading books. Read their answers and answer the questions below.

Person A

I have to read a lot for my job, and I find that reading factual books is often boring. The material tends to be dry and lacks excitement. After a long day at work, I usually feel too exhausted to read much, which means I have limited time for reading anything enjoyable.

Person B

My wife is always complaining that she can't read many books. I don't have that problem because I plan the reading schedule carefully. I set aside specific times each week for reading, which helps me stay on track. This way, I can enjoy my books while she finds it challenging to keep up.

Person C

When I was a child, I struggled to finish one book at a time. It felt overwhelming to stay focused on a single story. However, now that I'm older, I enjoy exploring many genres and even read multiple books at once. I have a long list of books I want to read in the future, which keeps me excited.

Person D

I keep a novel on the bedside table because I want to read before sleeping. However, I often find myself getting sleepy as soon as I start reading, which makes it difficult to concentrate. As a result, it has taken me several months to finish this book, and I still haven't completed it.

Who thinks reading factual books is boring? Person A
